France to Prepare Self-Government Then for Palestine.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—Liberated territory in Palestine will be administered under the agreement reached between the British, French and Russian governments in 1914, it is learned here. England and France will carry out the agreement under which France is charged with the preparation of a scheme of self-government for the people of Palestine. This work will be the object of conversations which will take place shortly.

German Colonies John in Welcome to British in Palestine.

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN PALESTINE, Tuesday, Sept. 24, via Montreal, Sept. 25.—A few hundred Turks left behind at Haifa resisted the British advance, making advances of the conquest of the ground with a march on one side and Mount Carmel on the other, but were finally driven out.

The population here the British are most enthusiastic, recent, even German colonists participating in the welcome. These Germans are mostly quiet immigrants from Wurtemberg, who came to Palestine on co-operations grounds. They complain bitterly of the Turkish executions and the lack of security. Their settlement was one of the most successful in Palestine.

Among the prisoners is a German Major who wanted to leave Haifa with other German troops on the day previous to the British entry into the town, but was compelled by the Turks to take part in the fighting. He spoke of the German mechanics working at Nazareth who might have escaped, but preferred to be taken prisoner rather than continue serving with the Turks.

District Board Receives New Classification Rules

Every Registrant of Sept. 12 Working in Necessary Industry May Claim Deferred Classification.

The first copies of the new rules for classifying men who registered for the draft Sept. 12 were received today by the District Appeals Board. Important changes have been made which permit all registrants engaged in industry, agriculture, occupations or employment considered necessary for the maintenance of the military establishment or of the national interest, to claim deferred classification.

There is also a change in the provision, however, which provides that the registrant claiming such classification must show that he is necessary to the operation of the enterprise or occupation.

Power of determining what employment or enterprise is necessary is vested in the District Appeals Board.

Hates Less Stringent.

Rules for granting deferred classification to men on industrial grounds heretofore have been very rigid, and have been strictly interpreted. A bank could not be classed as an "industry." Hardly any other business could be so classed unless it was a manufacturing concern. The new rules throw the bars down to numerous kinds of work, by the addition of the words, "occupation or employment."

A necessary industry, occupation or employment, including agricultural enterprises, is defined as one of which the discontinuance, serious interruption or reduced production would result in substantial material loss to the effectiveness of the military establishment, or the national interest.

"National interest," board members pointed out, is a very elastic phrase, and could be construed in almost any manner the board desired.

Claims Must Be Proved.

After showing that he is so engaged, the registrant must show that the business would suffer material impairment if he were removed from it.

FORMER HOLDER SUES TO RECOVER HOTEL PROPERTY

Plaintiff Alleges Operator Transferred Stock to Another After Misrepresenting Plan.

In a suit filed in Circuit Court today by the Edison Hotel Co. and David Beckett against Thomas F. Sullivan, the Missouri Hotel Operating Co., John F. Powers and G. L. Winkler, the plaintiffs seek to have restored to them the hotel property at 107 North Eighteenth street.

Beckett alleges he transferred the stock and leasehold of the Edison Company to Sullivan when the latter, by misrepresentation, led Beckett to believe he would organize the Missouri Hotel Operating Co., which would operate a string of hotels in the State. Sullivan also represented, Beckett alleges, that he owned the New Mexico Health Association, conducting health resorts in New Mexico, and valued at $10,000, in which company Beckett was to hold stock.

Later, Beckett says, Sullivan transferred the Edison Hotel property to Powers, who now is operating it. Winkler became involved in the suit when he became one of the incorporators of the new company, for which Beckett asks that a receiver be appointed pending the outcome of the suit filed today.

Beckett claims the leasehold which he transferred to Sullivan, and which expires July 31, 1925, and other assets of the hotel, make the property worth $20,000.

PERSHING AGAINST Y. M. C. A. MEN, NOT IN CLASS I, ENLISTING

Widespread Action Would Seriously Hamper Organization's Work Overseas. He Writes.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Widespread voluntary enlistments of Y. M. C. A. workers in France at this time would seriously interfere with the organization's work in the army, in the opinion of Gen. Pershing, who has written to E. C. Carter, head of the Y. M. C. A. overseas forces, to that effect.

"I suggest the following arrangement," said Gen. Pershing, in his communication to Carter, made public here: "Of the men from 22 to 45 years old now enlisted in the work those assigned to Class I should leave the service of the Y. M. C. A. as soon as you can replace them. Those assigned to deferred classes should continue in the service until called for military service, or until transferred to Class I. Hereafter the Y. M. C. A. should recruit no men between 22 and 45 years of age who are assigned or likely to be assigned to deferred classes with the understanding that they are liable to service whenever called."

NAVY WAR SERVICE AND WOUND CHEVRONS ARE APPROVED

They Are Similar to Those That Have Been Sanctioned for the Army.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Wearing of war service and wound chevrons by enlisted men and officers of the navy has been authorized by Secretary Daniels. The chevrons are similar to those adopted by the army and may be worn on the left sleeve to denote service and on the right sleeve for wounds.

Three months' service within the submarine zone or on vessels which have been torpedoed or fired upon by enemy vessels entitles officers and men to wear the service insignia. Naval aviators in the United States who have made actual flights in search of enemy submarines are granted the same privilege.

Wound chevrons may be worn for each injury in action, providing the wound was serious enough to require medical attention and for disability by gas. Additional chevrons will be awarded for wounds received at different times.

SlIGHT INCREASE IN LOSSES BY U-BOAT DURING AUGUST

Figures, However, Show a Decrease Compared With July, for British Ships.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Although the British shipping losses were lower than in July, there was a slight increase in the total allied and neutral shipping losses due to enemy action and marine risks in August over July, according to a statement by the admiralty issued today.

The total figures are 327,676 tons, an increase of 3964, divided as follows: Allied and neutral losses, 151,274 tons, an increase of 10,027; British losses, 176,401, a decrease of 6123.

The statement says: "The British losses from all causes in August were slightly higher than in July, which was the best month since the introduction of submarine warfare if the British losses from enemy action alone are considered. August was better than any month since September, 1917."

YEAR'S 67TH AUTO FATALITY

The death of John Taylor, 32 years old, 1502 Union boulevard, a negro, at the city hospital, yesterday brought the total of automobile fatalities for the year to 67 as compared with 55 for the corresponding period of last year.

Taylor was injured last Thursday, when knocked from the running board of an automobile occupied by him and Mrs. Orin S. Smith, Indianapolis, Ind., at Thirtieth street and Washington avenue, when the machine was struck by a street car. He was directing the couple to the McKinley Bridge at the time.

EXAMINATION OF THE ACCOUNTS

The Kirkwood Trust Co. continues today, following the disappearance of its secretary and treasurer, Louis F. Kerth, which was held exclusively in late editions of yesterday's Post-Dispatch.

A search of the safe of the Kirkwood Trust Co. of Kirkwood, yesterday afternoon, brought to light $570 in cash, identified as the property of the bank. This was part of $700 which Kerth had been told to deposit in the St. Louis County Bank at Clayton.

After the finding of the money, George F. Kerth, brother of the missing man and president of the mercantile company, gave the Kirkwood Trust Co. his personal check for $300 to make up the full amount of the shortage.

W. W. Selbert, a State Bank Examiner, began an examination of the trust company's books yesterday. He said followed one made by experienced accountants employed for that purpose of the Kirkwood Trust Co.

Interests in Both Concerns.

Louis F. Kerth had a financial interest in the mercantile company, George Kerth is also vice president of the Kirkwood Trust Co.

William W. Keyser, president of the Kirkwood Trust Co., today told Post-Dispatch reporter the mercantile company's safe was not opened with the expectation of finding the missing cash, but it was thought Kerth may have left a note there explaining his departure.

President Keyser said Kerth was personally indebted to the trust company when he disappeared. He thought up to last August he had been one of the principals on a $100 note of the Kirkwood Trust Co. Kerth had been missing since August 12, when the bank was going to Arcadia, Mo., on a hunting trip.

Keyser Explains Situation.

Keyser said $5000 was given Kerth by the Kirkwood Trust Co. on September 1 for deposit in the St. Louis County Bank to the trust company's credit. On the day of his disappearance $1250 was turned over to him with similar instructions.

Yesterday's developments, Keyser said, showed that Kerth had withdrawn all of the first deposit and $2000 of the second, placing the money in the Liberty Bond account of the bank. Kerth Mercantile Co. safe.

The Liberty Bond account of the bank is being audited. President Keyser said the examination thus far has shown that the bank has $1000 less of Liberty Bonds than the books show it should have, but it has not been determined whether this discrepancy, as the handling of the bonds involves complicated bookkeeping. He said it might be found that bond account was intact, but he said, the loss could not be covered $3600.

Cashier Gets Post Card.

Kerth has been heard from once since he left home. A card from him was received by Mr. Wilson, cashier of the trust company, Monday after his disappearance. The card dated at Ironton, Mo., and said Kerth would be in time to attend a directors' meeting the next day.

Relatives who went to Ironton search for Kerth were told a man answering his description had been seen wandering in the woods near there. Keyser today said later information was that Kerth took a westbound train from Ironton several days ago.

Worried Over Investment.

Kerth was financially interested in the Eagle Utilities Co., a $20,000 corporation, in which he had invested $15,000, a part of which was advanced by relatives. His brother George F. Kerth, said this company had not prospered and Louis Kerth had worried over its difficulties.

Kerth's wife was Miss Frances Nicolls. She is a daughter of Russell Nicolls of Kirkwood, vice president of the American Trust Co. of St. Louis.

Kerth registered for the draft Sept. 12, the day before the registration day. He was permitted to do this by the Kirkwood Examination Board on his statement that he intended to leave town on his hunting trip and would not be there the time set for registration.

KIRKWOOD TRUST CO. GETS BACK ALL CASH KERTH TOOK

$6700 in Safe of Kerth Mercantile Co. and Brother of Missing Man Supplies $300 Shortage.

EXAMINATION OF BOOKS CONTINUES

President Keyser Says Bank's Loss Will Not Exceed $3600 in Liberty Bonds—These May Be Found.

Examination of the accounts of the Kirkwood Trust Co. continued today, following the disappearance of its secretary and treasurer, Louis F. Kerth, which was told exclusively in late editions of yesterday's Post-Dispatch.

A search of the safe of the Kerth Mercantile Co. of Kirkwood, yesterday afternoon, brought to light $6700 in cash, identified as the property of the bank. This was part of $7000 which Kerth had been told to deposit in the St. Louis County Bank at Clayton.

Kerth has been missing from Kirkwood since Sept. 12, when the told his wife and business associate he was going to Arcadia, Mo., on a short hunting trip.

Keyser Explains Situation

Keyser said $5000 was given Kerth by the Kirkwood Trust Co. on Sept. 5 for deposit in the St. Louis County Bank to the trust company's credit. On the day of his disappearance $2500 was turned over to him with similar instructions.

Yesterday's developments, Keyser said, showed that Kerth had withheld all of the first deposit and $2000 of the second, placing the money in the Kerth Mercantile Co. safe.

The Liberty Bond account of the bank is being audited. President Keyser said the examination thus far has shown that the bank has $1600 less of Liberty Bonds than its books show it should have, but it has not been determined whether this is a discrepancy, as the handling of the bonds involves complicated book-keeping. He said it might be found that bond account was correct. If not, he said, the loss could not exceed $3600.

Cashier Gets Post Card

Kerth has been heard from only once since he left home. A post card from him was received by Mark Wilson, cashier of the trust company, the Monday after his disappearance. It was dated at Ironton, Mo., near Arcadia, and said Kerth would return in time to attend a director's meeting the next day.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

THURSDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 26, 1918.

Foreign Legion Has Record of Heroism Unequaled

FIGHTERS ARE PAID 5 CENTS A DAY

in History of World Wars—Founded in 1830

Colors Have Been Lowered but Twice, Once to French President, Decorating Standard, Once to Wilson.

Unit Has Won All the Decorations France Has, a New One May Be Created for It.

St. Louis salutes today the most romantic of military organizations, celebrated in many a song and story, with its heroic history of 88 years written in Europe, Asia, Africa and America—the French Foreign Legion.

It is the embodiment of the world's love for France. In the detachment which arrived here this morning 17 nationalities are represented among only 47 noncommissioned officers and privates, and they range from Monte Carlo to Armenia, from Denmark to Algiers, from Poland to Egypt. It is a fact that the party was held up for two hours at Ellis Island because the immigration officers discovered that the legionnaires were technically subjects of Austria and Germany. To not a few of them, the Swiss for instance, German is the native tongue.

First Visit to U. S.

This is the first time the members of the Foreign Legion have visited the United States. But it is not their debut in the western hemisphere. They placed Maximilian in the throne of Mexico half a century ago. They have fought in Dahomey, the Sudan and Madagascar; in China and the Crimea; they poured out their blood for Italian freedom in 1859; and the Legion won the special hatred of Germany because it has opened its arms to Germans who enlisted in its ranks. Many Americans have served in the Legion during the war, among them Alan Watts, the poet; Kiffin Rockwell, Kenneth Weeks, Russell Kelly and Frank Whitmore.

In the visiting detachment, every man has been wounded, some several times, and every man wears the Military Medal or the Croix de Guerre, or both. The 50 officers and men count among them 168 wounds. They range in age from 20 to 57 years. The oldest is a Frenchman who, being beyond the military age, enlisted to avenge his two sons, killed in the war. The Foreign Legion is the only volunteer organization in the French army.

Flag Lowered But Twice

The Legionnaires brought with them the St. Louis flag which was first unfurled in the Crimea, and which is tattered by shot and shell. In all its history, this banner has never been lowered but twice. The first time was in Algiers, when the President of France decorated the standard with the badge of the Legion of Honor. The second occurred a few days ago, as the Legionnaires were parading before the White House in Washington. In honor to President Wilson, the color bearer dipped the flag three times. They have another flag, now at the front, which is said to be the most decorated banner in the world.

Every man wears over his left shoulder the red fourragere, or braid, which is the highest regimental honor the French Government can bestow. It shows that the Legion has been cited at least six times for intrepidity in battle. As a matter of fact, the Legion has been cited 12 times, and the Government, considering the introduction of an entirely new braid to give distinction to the Legion's unique gallantry, it probably will be the tricolor. How great an innovation this may be judged from the fact that French soldiers are strictly forbidden to wear any ribbon or badge bearing the national colors.

Commander Lost a Leg

The commander of the detachment, Capt. Maurice Chastenet de Gery, lost his right leg in the Champagne fighting of 1915, but refused to retire. Walking steadily on a wooden leg, he marches at the head of his men. He returned to the firing line and fought for two months at Verdun, where he saved on the staff of Gen. Nivelle and won the Croix de Guerre for bravery in action. He had previously won the medal of the Legion of Honor in Morocco, and his Croix de Guerre bears two palms indicating citations for bravery in general orders.

Lieut. Alexis Herrier embodies the spirit of the legion. He is still in the service, although higher rank in another unit has been offered to him. He has been wounded in the foot, arm and breast, is a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor, and wears the Croix de Guerre with two palms. His Moroccan medal bears two bars, and beside it is the decoration of the Nicham Alaouite. The Sultan of Morocco bestowed another medal, which makes him Chevalier of the Order of Hafiden.

"I would not leave the legion," he says. "Most of us are men without home or family. The legion is our home. Who would leave such a home?"

Brave, "But There Is Dinet"

In the legion, the reply will be, "There are all brave—but there's Dinet." This is Adjutant-Chief Alfred Dinet of the First Section of the detachment here today. He has the Military Medal and the War Cross, with two palms and two stars, and with two medals and medals, although shy of men, bears among his comrades the horrible nickname of "King of the Murderers." This is is Corp. Maurice Voutaz, a Swiss, whose war cross bears seven stars, one of gold, three of silver and three of bronze.

Pole's Love for France

"I loved France," says Achille Klaukowski, a Pole, in telling why he joined the Legion when the war began. He is suffering from wounds and gas, and his hope is that the United States will recognize Poland as an independent nation.

Saad Aklil is an Arab from Algiers, who gave up his business in London at the start of the war to enlist in the Legion. He has the Military Medal and the War Cross with two bronze stars.

Sergt. Fund, another Swiss, has the Croix de Guerre for his mastery of a machine gun in the Champagne fighting of 1915.

Alfred Lefers, a Swiss, has the Cross of War with three citations. At Verdun, after all the men of his unit were killed, he single-handed, with his bayonet, captured 10 German soldiers and two officers. He has been wounded three times.

Emil Licht, also a Swiss, thought "The war is to go to the aid of France when the war began. He has the War Cross with three citations. He won the first by continuing in an attack after being shot in the knee. His second citation was for Verdun, and the third for a very brave soldier, first in the attack. His third citation was at the Somme, where he bombed and killed the enemy, making a countermine against a mine made by the French.

Sergt. Alfred Dietmann, an Alsatian, has served 15 years in the Foreign Legion. He is in Morocco and four on the western front. He has been wounded six times, and wears the Military Medal and the Croix de Guerre with palm and three bronze stars.

Like the "Blue Devils," the legionnaires are fond of singing. "Madelon" is as popular with them as it is with all French soldiers, but they have of their own which, with its melody of French and Italian, reflects the multi-lingual characteristics of the unit. It runs:

Qu'il va piano va sena, qu'il va sena va lontan; qu'il va forte va la morte—

Which, being roughly translated, means: "He who goes slowly goes heartily; he who goes too strongly is going to die; hurrah for liberty."

The cosmopolitan character of the Foreign Legion is reflected in the personnel of the detachment visiting St. Louis today. Seventeen nationalities are represented among the 47 noncommissioned officers and privates.

vivas to President Wilson, who is making the world safe for Democracy.

The Great Lakes band led the parade, when it started from Hotel Jefferson at 10:45. Then came the legion, an officer of the legion carrying his courages, much-loved standard, and one that they have guarded zealously in every campaign since the Crimean War. It was shot, marked and faded, but around its motto, "Valor et Discipline," France has pinned every medal she ever has created to reward gallant deeds. It flew between the American flag and the naval flag. Three American sailors and seven Legionnaires were its guard.

"March Goes as You Please."

Then came the Legionnaires. As they swung out from Hotel Jefferson south on Twelfth street they affixed their bayonets. Before they reached Olive street the cheering had started. To those who saw less of military precision in the marching of the Legionnaires than they did in the marching of the Blue Devils, it might be said that the Legionnaires, though famed throughout France as the greatest marchers the republic has, march much in go-as-you-please fashion. Its members never have been dress parade marchers, but are tireless in distances.

The cheering, particularly by women employed in Washington avenue, whole sale houses, was greater in volume than on most similar occasions in St. Louis.

At Eleventh and Olive streets, a woman ran out from the curb and addressed one of the Legionnaires in French.

Has Brother in Legion.

She was Mrs. M. Charbonnier, 6011 Horton place, and she was inquiring for her brother, Victor Bonzon, who has been a member of the legion for 15 years and who has been wounded four times.

The Legionnaires whose attention she changed to attract informed Mrs. Charbonnier that Bonzon was in a Paris hospital recovering from his most recent wounds.

Twenty-five minutes after the start of the parade, the legionnaires reached Hotel Jefferson again. There they were lined up facing the American colors and saluted. The legionnaire said his parents were delighted he had repaid with "The Marseillaise" for the reception given his men.

G. V. R. Mechin, president of the French Society of St. Louis, spoke in French with such fervor that he aroused the Legionnaires to deafening cheers and brought them to their feet at the end with three vigorous "vivas" for President Wilson.

Successors to the "Old Guard."

"You are the successors of the famous Old Guard at Waterloo," said Mechin. "The war is to go to the aid of France when the war began. He has the War Cross with three citations. He won the first by continuing in an attack after being shot in the knee. His second citation was for Verdun, and the third for a very brave soldier, first in the attack. VISITOR FROM FRANCE TELLS OF WOMEN'S WORK IN WAR

Miss Henrietta Roelofs, Y. W. C. A. Went Abroad at Beginning of the Conflict.

Miss Henrietta Roelofs, a member of the Y. W. C. A., who recently returned from France, where she went at the beginning of the war, speaking in the United War Work Conference at the Hotel Statler yesterday, asked representatives of the seven organizations engaged in war work to make efforts to greatly over-subscribe their quotas in the campaign to be held the week of Nov. 17 to 19.

In describing her experiences in France, Miss Roelofs paid tribute to the heroism of the women of France and Great Britain. "There are no braver soldiers in France than these women," she said, telling how nearly 40,000 British women have enlisted for war work, the majority of them doing the same work as the men, with the single exception that they do not enter the front line trenches as soldiers.

She told of the women munition workers of Great Britain and France, whose one desire was to make speed that the men at the front would never be placed at a disadvantage because of insufficient supplies of ammunition.

The nurses who have volunteered their services also were complimented. "Their duties are arduous," she said, "many of them working 12 to 14 hours at a stretch in the operating rooms. They obtain their only recreation at the Y. W. C. A. huts." In this connection, she said that the nurses who came to France were members of the unit recruited in St. Louis.

"Seventy-five per cent of the wounded go back to the fighting line because of the efficiency of these nurses."

GOVERNMENT RALLIES HEALTH FORCES TO FIGHT INFLUENZA

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Stamping out of Spanish influenza has been recognized by the Government as a war measure. Medical and nursing units today were mobilized in communities where the epidemic has gained headway under the general direction of a Central Committee representing the public health service, the army, the navy and the American Red Cross.

Principal relief will be afforded by units at home. Traveling medical units will be mobilized. Home defense units will be placed at the disposal of the Central Committee.

Surgeon-General Rupert Blue of the Public Health Service said latest reports showed the malady's appearance in 26 states. The disease is epidemic in New England. It has appeared in Washington and California and Minnesota and Iowa.

The disease continues to spread in army camps, with 324 new cases being reported, bringing the total for all camps to 29,002 cases. The number of pneumonia cases reported among the soldiers since the outbreak of the influenza epidemic Sept. 13, is 2313 and the number of deaths, 520. At Camp Devens 342 new cases of pneumonia have been reported, with 72 deaths.

MEMBER OF 138TH IS KILLED IN ACTION

Ferdinand Schneider Listed in Casualties—St. Louisan in Marines Missing.

Ferdinand Schneider of 1316 Geyer avenue, is named in today's official casualty list as killed in action. He was 30 years old, was the son of Mrs. Caroline Schneider, and was a member of the 138th Infantry, the St. Louis National Guard regiment.

Richard Walter Cox, 18 years old, of 5426 Pennsylvania avenue, is named in today's official casualty list as killed in action. He was 18 years old, was the son of Mrs. Caroline Schneider, and was a member of the 138th Infantry, the St. Louis National Guard regiment.

member of the Seventy-fifth Company, Fifth Regiment, Marine Corps, is named in the list as missing in action. A telegram to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cox, says he has been missing since July 19.

He enlisted in the marines April 12, 1917, one week after the United States entered the war, and went to France two months later. His parents later received a letter written Aug. 6, in which he said he and his comrades were celebrating their fourth month in the trenches. He sent news of his brother, James Cox, who is a member of the same marine regiment. Another brother, Thomas W. Cox, is in the navy.

The names of four other St. Louisans, killed in action, which have been published previously, are in today's list. They are Manuel Johnson of 7516 Ethel avenue, a member of the Seventy-fifth Company, Sixth Regiment, Marines, killed July 13 at Chateau-Thierry; Mark P. Scarry of 1409 North Euclid avenue; Victor Meaplay, 4104 Ridge avenue, and Milton G. Miller, 1417 Union boulevard. The name of H. N. Ostendorf of Edinburgville, killed in action, previously published, is also in the list.

Sgt. Charles H. Heward, whose death in France was recently reported, died from wounds received in action, and not from an accidental wound, according to a notification sent to his father, E. J. Heward of 5201 Kensington avenue, by Acting Adjutant-General Harris.

News Brought by Officer. The first information as to Sgt. Heward's death was brought by an officer home on furlough, who said his death was caused by the accidental discharge of a revolver. The father telegraphed to the War Department, asking an investigation.

Heward was formerly an assistant cashier of the Pierce Oil Co. In his last letter to his parents, written on the Sunday before his death, he told of going to church "as usual."

Jacob Leopold, whose name appeared in yesterday's list as severely wounded, but whose address was given only as general delivery, was the son of Jacob Leopold of 2310 Wisconsin avenue, a saloon keeper. He has been in the army more than a year, and is a member of D Company, Eighteenth Infantry.

Ferdinand Gerhardt, 23 years old, a marine, who was severely wounded June 2, is at a quarantine station near Boston, according to word which has reached his mother, Mrs. Henry Gerhardt of 2701 South Eleventh street.

FIGHTING GERMANS WITH CAPTURED MACHINE GUN

St. Charles Drafted With Searchlight Engineers Repel Air Raiders.

Private Nelson M. Bradshaw, Company C, 56th United States Engineers, in France, in a letter to his brother, R. B. Bradshaw of West Alton, tells about "getting Fritz." Bradshaw left St. Charles with a draft contingent last October for Camp Funston, Kan. He has been overseas since May. The letter, dated Aug. 24, follows in part:

"I am with the searchlight engineers near the front lines. I have a German machine gun, and when Fritz comes over with his planes I used it on him. I tell you, when you think of home and mother, it is when he is dropping bombs all around you. They are much worse than shells, because of the shrapnel which flies in all directions when they explode."

"I wish you could see a battle in the air. I mean they do some fighting. We brought down three planes about a week ago. I sure do love to point the machine gun at Fritz and give him about 500 rounds of his own shells. He sure does some dodging."

"Who told you that we are allowed to write only once a week? We may write as often as we wish. We have plenty to eat and warm clothes. I think we will be home by next winter. But it makes no difference if it takes 10 years, we are going to get the Kaiser before we get through. Some of us are homesick. All are in the best of health and spirits."

SELLECK PAROLE RECOMMENDED

St. Louis Lawyer Is Serving Two-Year Sentence.

A parole for Eliot V. Selleck, a St. Louis lawyer serving a two-year term in the penitentiary for fraudulent real estate deals, has been recommended by the State Prison Board to Gov. Gardner, and it probably will be granted Dec. 12. He would be released under the merit system. He has a good prison record.

Henry A. Rosskopf, former Assistant Circuit Attorney, appeared before the board on behalf of the St. Louis Bar Association, and protested vigorously against clemency for Selleck. Selleck entered the prison Nov. 12, last.

MELLEN REVEALS WIFE'S 'AFFAIR' BY HER LETTERS

"Douglas Dear" Tell of Meeting With "Diamond Jim" Brown and Other Notables

Special to the Post-Dispatch. PITTSFIELD, Mass., Sept. 25.—Abdul Hamid has been brought to the contest of Charles S. Mellen, an astrologer of New Haven.

According to a statement by Mellen's attorney, Abdul and Frances Cutler, were engaged to be married. Mellen to report the move. Mrs. Brown, wife of Henry Brown, assistant manager of the Hotel Vanderbilt, New York, Mrs. Mellen wrote the "Dear" letters.

A package of letters were in the Probate Court, which Mellen testified he found in the bedroom of Mrs. Mellen and her sister, Mrs. Mellen, said they were sent by the astrologer and his wife. Mellen and that some dealt with a blonde and a Cumberland in New York.

Most of them were in duplicate. Mellen testified he had read every third word were introduced in evidence. Mellen took them home to read them last night.

Marble Egg Is Missing. The pink marble egg with Mellen testified his wife, Mellen, is missing. Mellen said a nice blue one which he had the same kind and weight was not admitted as an exhibit.

A letter written by Mrs. Mellen to her husband, the Hotel Vanderbilt in 1917, to her eldest daughter, Mrs. Mellen, who is 21, was introduced yesterday that persuaded their daughter to read in parts.

"Now, dearie, you do just keep your eyes open and a close watch on the children. I don't know who she is. Either she is the blonde or the blonde women can't be trusted. Now, dear, you are wonderfully well, and I am of you. My friends are all well, and I am going to win, Kate."

"Now, dear, you can help me up there and keep your eyes open about this new woman. I don't have to be nice to her. Just stick up there and show them and you stick. I make them madder than a horned toad. There would be in coming down now, so help me. You have been with Kathryn, and I am awfully sorry. You did the Maudie act today. Aunt Sadie said that had said that she saw not a while in Stockbridge. H. H. Hurray!"

"My dear, they are nesting. Now another snag. Your being up there and keeping your eyes on the woman. Well, you and don't try to help her."

At the bottom of the letter written: "Burn all my letters. Watch out for the new spies."

Had Governor at House. Mellen testified that at this letter came had evidence for the children.

The remainder of the 39 "Dear" letters were read. Mellen was asked what his wife was when he read the letter. "I went through all the letters of humiliation and exposure that my vocabulary could give. I have also suffered greatly since then, whereas for 40 years I had not been ill," he replied.

In several of the letters Mellen urged Brown to visit Stockbridge, and told him to visit the hotel. Mellen testified that he visited the Hotel Vanderbilt in the summer of 1917, and that he was then assisted by Thomas Hilliard, who was manager of the hotel.

"Was that Handsome Tom?" M. B. Warner, Mrs. Mellen's attorney, who testified that Mellen said he had visited the hotel. Mellen testified that he visited the hotel.

"Were you then aware of the relations between Mrs. Mellen and the letters indicated?" Mellen testified that he was not aware of the relations between Mrs. Mellen and the letters indicated.

"I never thought of such a thing," Mellen answered. Mellen did not go to Stockbridge. Mrs. Mellen wrote him a letter certainly made a note of it. In the same letter Mellen said: "I have not seen you for a long time. Why did you not write me?"

MELLEN REVEALS WIFE'S 'AFFAIRS' BY HER LETTERS

"Douglas Dear" Epistles
Tell of Meeting With "Diamond Jim" Brady and Other Notables.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Sept. 26.—F. Abdul Hamid has been brought into the contest of Charles S. Mellen to obtain legal justification in living apart from his wife. This particular Abdul is an astrologer of State street, New Haven.

According to a statement of Mellen's attorney, Abdul and his wife, Frances Cutler, were engaged by Mrs. Mellen to report the movements of Mrs. Brown, wife of Henry Douglas Brown, assistant manager of the Hotel Vanderbilt, New York, to whom Mrs. Mellen wrote the "Douglas Dear" letters.

A package of letters were produced in the Probate Court yesterday which Mellen testified he found in a box in the bedroom Mrs. Mellen occupied in their Stockbridge home. Attorney John W. H. Crim, Jr., Mellen, said they were letters sent by the astrologer and his wife to Mrs. Mellen and that some of them dealt with a blonde and the Hotel Cumberland in New York.

Most of them were in cipher, but Crim had puzzled sense out of them by reading every third word. They were introduced in evidence and may be read in court today, Judge Sloan took them home to look over them last night.

Marble Egg Is Missing.
The pink marble egg which Mellen testified his wife attacked him, is missing. Mellen produced a blue one which he said was the same kind and weight, but it was not admitted as an exhibit.

A letter written by Mrs. Mellen in the Hotel Vanderbilt in October, 1917, to her eldest daughter, Kathryn, who is 21, was introduced. Mellen testified yesterday that his wife persuaded their daughter to spy on him. The letter was intercepted by Mellen in his Stockbridge home. It read in part:

"Now, dear, you do just as you say; keep your eyes open and keep a close watch on the children. You don't know who she is. Either Maude or the blonde got her, and both of these women can't be trusted one minute. Now, dear, you are doing wonderfully well, and I am proud of you. My friends are all with me and I am going to win, Kathryn."

"Now, dear, you can help by staying up there and keeping your eyes open about this new woman. You have to be nice to her. You must stick up there and show them all. They can't bulldoze over. Just show them and you stick. That will make them madder than a hatter. Now, dear, there would be no fun coming down now, so help me by sticking until things are more settled. You have been wonderful. Kathryn, and I am awfully proud of you. You did the Maude act fine for today Aunt Sadie said that Maude had said that she saw nothing of him while in Stockbridge. Hip, hip, hooray."

"Now, dear, they are meeting many ways. Now another snag will be your being up there and keeping an eye on the woman. Well, you do it, and don't try to help her."

At the bottom of the letter was written: "Burn all my letters—watch out for the new spies."

Had Governor at House.
Mellen testified that at the time this letter came he had engaged a lawyer for the children.

The remainder of the "Douglas Dear" letters were read, in which Mrs. Mellen signed herself "Kitten." Mellen was asked what his feelings were when he read the letters.

"I went through all the degradation of humiliation and exasperation that my vocabulary could describe. I have also suffered greatly physically since then, whereas for 40 years I had not been ill," he replied.

In several of the letters Mrs. Mellen urged Brown to visit her in Stockbridge, and told him to bring his Tuxedo, which he "looked so handsome in." Mrs. Walton H. Marshall, wife of the manager of the Hotel Vanderbilt did visit the Mellens in Stockbridge in the summer of 1913. Marshall was then assistant to Thomas Hilliard, who was then manager of the hotel.

"Was that Handsome Tom Hilliard?" M. B. Warner, Mrs. Mellen's attorney asked Mellen, who replied that Mellen said he had consented the invitation to Brown to make a visit to his home.

"Were you then aware of any such relations between Mrs. Mellen and Brown as the letters indicate?" Crim asked.

"I never thought of such a thing," Mellen answered.

Brown did not go to Stockbridge, Mrs. Mellen wrote him "You certainly made a monkey out of me." In the same letter she said: "Why did you not write me before you left Philadelphia? I believe you have a girl down there that you must consult before you dare to write to me. Have I hit the nail on the head? Well, it is all right if you have, but don't make me think as first if I am not."

Who O'Malley Was.
In a letter Mrs. Mellen wrote to her while she was at the Vanderbilt she addressed him as "My Dear Brown" and upbraided him with "certainly are a 'peach' if there was one. I have never run across one like you before." She referred to a trip of his to Atlantic City, recovered from an illness and said "O'Malley has done everything for

MELLEN REVEALS WIFE'S "AFFAIRES" BY HER LETTERS

Mellen was asked who O'Malley was and he replied:

"O'Malley was a secondary grad-hand artist who received guests as they came into the rotunda of the hotel.

That Mrs. Mellen wielded an influence in the management of the hotel was shown in several letters. In one she said she was to have luncheon with "J. B." whom Mellen identified as the late "Diamond Jim" Brady, a heavy stockholder in the hotel, and she wrote Brown: "I am going to tell him (Brady) a few things."

A few days later she wrote Brown, she had told "J. B." to get "T. H." out of the hotel. Mellen said "T. H." was Hillard, who was succeeded in the management of the hotel by Marshall, and Brown then moved up a peg to assistant manager.

"I want you to go out with the men; I want you to have all the good times you can with the men, but not with the women. I am so fond of you, dear, I would do anything you might ask. Is this too much of me to ask of you?"

Mrs. Mellen wrote Brown in another letter. In one from Stockbridge she asked him if he were tired of her and said:

"Now look here, dear, I am willing to stay here if it is your wish, and I am ready to do anything you may ask. You know that. But if I am staying here so Julia Anderson and your little blonde friend from Frisco may put their fingers in the pie and wabble them around, it is no go if there is anything like that on foot on your part."

In this same letter she said, "I have seen men tire before a year," and added:

"Longed for His Glance." "Oh, how I love to get a look from your eyes, as I have many a time, for instance, on Saturday, when I stood talking to these three people and you passed a little back of them. You threw me a look. Oh, how I love it."

"Then again, the afternoon I was at the desk waiting for my jewel bag and just before you handed me a little white envelope, you gave me one of these looks; you know what I mean. I don't get them always, but once in a while I do, and I would not part with them for a million dollars. Mr. Marshall is in it. They make me feel good all over, and no matter how blue or discouraged I may be, when I get one of these I immediately go into the seventh heaven. I adore them. Well, 'Why can't you call on me?' she wrote at another time at the hotel.

"I have a salon and you know it would be perfectly all right for you to receive you as a caller, and Lord, what have they a salon for?"

"O'Malley said you wrote me Tuesday afternoon. My but you are all a pack of liars. I dare them. I'll never believe another thing anyone tells me but Mr. Murray. He has told me the whole truth all through this affair. He is a dear. As I said before, he has been so kind and considerate of me. But the rest of you—La-La."

"Well, I guess poor O'Malley was scared. To save your skin, he said you wrote to me Tuesday night. Oh, you devils. If the women only stuck together like the men, why there would not be so many heartaches, but most women are cats and are the first to cause the trouble. Well, I guess you will have to be good for a time, so I close with love and good wishes. Fondly, Kitten."

Dr. Murray is the house physician of the Vanderbilt. In one of the letters Mrs. Mellen spoke of sitting downstairs in the Vanderbilt two hours and "acting like a spoilt child."

"Wanted Ring as a Gift." "Now, dear, I am going to ask you for something," she wrote Brown. "Give it to me whenever you feel you can afford it, but don't say yes some day you may have it and by that mean yes, hence. For the next three or four years I have wanted a diamond ring set in platinum like the enclosed (this size exact). I have looked at them in the jewellers, even tried them on, and you well know, I could easily buy one myself, or if I asked J. B. for one I would have it in the wink of an eye. But, dear, whenever I looked at them there was something that made me hesitate and something said 'No, wait.' I had a feeling there would be someone I should want give me that ring, so I never bought, but waited."

"Now, dear, it is the one thing I want. I have none and you are the one I want it from, so when you can afford it will you hand it to me? Keep the enclosed for size and for guidance. You don't mind my asking, do you dear? And when you feel you can you will make me very happy. Fondly, Kitten."

In another letter Mrs. Mellen's fondness for New York social life is given a new incentive. She writes: "Douglas Dear: Listen, dear. You know New York is everything to me. I love it. I adore the trip, the hotel, the music and the dress as well as everything that goes to make New York what it is. I always did adore it, but since I met you it is, oh, much more dear, and I love forward to the day when I start for that city, for not only is New York here, but I am to see you again. I am willing to remain up here all summer if it is your wish, but in return you must be loyal and true. I want you to go out with the men. I want you to have all the good times you can have with the men, but not with the women. I am so fond of you, dear, I would do anything you might ask. Is this too much for me to ask of you? Be honest with me. Be kind and good to me. Then the rest is easy for me to do what you want. I am more than willing, no matter if it is just the opposite of what I may desire. Fondly, 'KITTEEN.'"

REAL SCREAMS INTERRUPT SHOW

The audience at the Lindell Theater, Grand avenue and Hebert street, was disturbed last night by shrieks and moans emanating from the upper part of the rear of the building. The show was interrupted long enough for an investigation.

Hidden in a space between a window and the balcony the police found Charles Rittenhaus, 16 years old, of 3023A Magazine street, and Martin Musick, 14, of 3615 Palm street. Musick, the police say, admitted making the noise. He said he and the other boy were without money to pay their way into the show and had climbed a fire escape on the outside and got in through a window. Being unable to see the pictures from their position, they sought to "have some fun" with the audience. They were locked up.

McULLOCH SAYS U. R. CANNOT MEET BILLS ON 6-CENT FARE

Statement Shows Income Increased $125,000 and Expenses $344,000 During August.

President McCulloch of the United Railways Co., in a statement issued yesterday, says that, even with the 6-cent fare, the company is not keeping up with expenses, and that it is now off now, with the 6-cent fare, and the increased wage scale, than it was with the nickel fare and the old wage scale.

The statement sets forth that the operating revenues for August were $1,249,435, an increase of $135,621, over August of last year. Operating expenses and taxes were $1,374,751, an increase of $344,000, over August of last year. The net earnings available for the payment of interest charges were $846,170.48, an amount which is $297,471.54 less than August, 1917. The company failed to earn its interest charges of $210,760 per month by $145,589.95.

Included in operating expenses for the month of August are $116,919.87 of back wages for the month of May, payable in accordance with the recommendation of the Public Service Commission and the agreement made with the employees.

ALKALI MAKES SOAP BAD FOR WASHING HAIR

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulitified coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or any thing else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful of all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—ADY.

The kitchen has three forms of service and is about to add another. It supplies a well-balanced meal for workmen of nearby factories for 15 cents, it prepares suppers for entire families to be called for by working mothers on their way home, and it dispatches wagonettes loaded with hot meals to nearby factories. The fourth service is on the theory that the natural thing for school children to do after school is to go home for something to eat. The kitchen now will serve a glass of milk and a sandwich for 5 cents to children whose mothers are at work.

The popularity of the service in factories has led six large manufacturing concerns to supply similar service. When the wagonette service was inaugurated at the Monsanto Chemical Co. six meals were sold. At the end of a week that number had doubled. Now about 120 persons, including some of the office force, eat regularly of the wagonette dinners.

WELLS IN CHARGE OF W. S. S.

Rolla Wells, governor of the Eighth Federal Reserve District, yesterday was notified by the Treasury Department that he had been placed in charge of the War Savings and Thrift Stamp selling organizations of the district. This new responsibility is due to the resignation of F. A. Vandenberg, chairman of the national organization at Washington, to whom the salesmen reported. The change practically combines the War Savings and Liberty Loan selling organizations, and as explained by Secretary McAdoo, will secure better co-ordination.

Train Your Hair As An Actress Does

No class of people devotes as much time to beauty as do actresses, and no class must be more careful to retain and develop their charms. Inquiry develops the information that in hair care they find it dangerous to shampoo with any makeshift hair cleanser. The majority say that to have the best hair wash and scalp stimulator at a cost of about three cents, one need only get a package of Canthor from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. This makes enough shampoo liquid to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are quickly dissolved and entirely disappear when you rinse the hair. After this your hair will be so fluffy it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—ADV.

THE MEN IN CLASS A1

A sound, healthy man is never a bad number. A man can be as vigorous and able at seventy as at twenty. Condition, not years, puts you in the discard. A system weakened by overwork and careless living brings old age prematurely. Its effects are insidious and unpleasant symptoms appear. The weak spot is generally the kidneys. Keep them clean and in proper working condition and you will generally find yourself in Class A1. Take GOLD MEDAL MARMALADE. It keeps the kidneys clean and the system will always be in working order. Your spirits will be invigorated, your muscles supple, your mind active, and your body capable of hard work. Don't wait until you have been rejected. Commence to be a first-class man now. Go to your druggist at once. Get a trial of GOLD MEDAL MARMALADE. They are made of the pure, original MARMALADE. It is the kind your great-grandfather used. GREECE WANTS U. S. HELP, SAYS ARCHBISHOP, HERE

"One Battalion of Americans Would Hearten Our Army," Says Metropolitan of Greek Church.

DECLARATION OF WAR FAVORED

Tells of Fight to Overthrow Constantine, and of Allied Officers' Praise for Greek Soldiers.

Archbishop Meletios Metaxakis of Athens, Metropolitan of the Greek Church, in an interview with a Post-Dispatch reporter at Hotel Jefferson today, said that the thing most desired by the Greek army, which is now advancing against the Bulgarians, was the presence of American soldiers and the American flag with their forces. This is now possible, because the United States has not declared war on Bulgaria.

"Even one battalion of soldiers would be enough," he said. "And if no soldiers could be sent, even the fact of a declaration of war by the United States on our enemies, Bulgaria and Turkey, would cheer our men and dishearten the enemy. 'My countrymen have not been able to understand why the United States has not declared war on Bulgaria and Turkey. When I left Greece the feeling there was one of hope that the United States would take such action soon. I was at the front a few days before leaving Greece, and officers and men expressed sorrow that America was not represented there."

The Declaration of War. "When the Greek people won its fight against German influence by the overthrow of King Constantine Greece declared war not only on Bulgaria and Turkey, our enemies immediately at hand, but on Germany and Austria. We did not see any reason for making a distinction between the nations which are trying to establish themselves as the tyrants of Europe and of the world." The Archbishop is a native of the island of Crete, which is also the home of Venizelos, Greek Premier and leader of the democratic movement which overthrew the pro-German Constantine and his Queen, the Kaiser's sister. He spoke cordially of Venizelos. The Archbishop's predecessor, two years and a half ago, pronounced the anathema of the church on Venizelos. Later, when the democratic party got the upper hand, that Archbishop was removed, and the present metropolitan, a sympathizer with the democratic movement, was chosen in his place.

Tells of Venizelos' Fight. "It was a great fight between Germany and the Greek people," Archbishop Metaxakis said in alluding to the struggle in his country, "but the people won, and Venizelos came to power. It was a hard fight, for the most extraordinary efforts were made to keep King Constantine in power. The strongest thing in the King's favor was his record as a leader in the Balkan war."

"Our soldiers whom I saw at the Macedonian front had a feeling of entire confidence that the day the Generalissimo commanded an onslaught, they would overcome the enemy. French officers, who were wounded at the Marne and at Verdun, were with our army helping to organize and train it. All expressed admiration at the stuff the Greek soldiers are made of."

"The quick understanding and the confident spirit of our Greek soldiers have impressed all the officers of allied countries who have seen them. The men generally seem to regret that they cannot come into direct combat with the Germans."

"From a distance of a mile I saw the strongly fortified Bulgarian position of Scra. It seemed to me that its capture would be very difficult, but when I arrived in this country I learned that our soldiers had taken it, and this victory has made possible the advance which they have since been making."

The Archbishop is of powerful physique, with black hair and beard lined with gray. He speaks to English-speaking callers through an interpreter. S. X. Constantinidis, first secretary of the Greek Legation at Washington, is acting in that capacity here, and will interpret for the Archbishop at his public appearances. To hear the Archbishop speak is to realize that modern Greece, like the ancient tongue from which it differs but little, is the most musical of languages.

Archbishop Metaxakis called today on Mayor Kiel, who is a graduate and knows how to fit lenses. These frames guaranteed to last 1-1/2 years. Similar glasses $1.50 to $2.00. Special lenses extra. $2.00. Similar glasses elsewhere, $2.00 to $2.50. 2 pairs of glasses in one. $2.50. Similar glasses elsewhere, $2.50 to $3.00.

time to keep this engagement. He said there were 70,000 Armenians in America, and that 10,000 of these are in the United States Army.

Saloon Men Quit. HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Sept. 26.—The saloon men of this county have signed an agreement with the prohibition leaders to quit selling liquor April 1, 1919, and never again to resume business if the local option vote this fall is called off. The saloon men say they did this to avoid excitement during the loan campaign.

Homer Revised.

"THE sixth-grade class in reading had followed Ulysses through several years of wandering. Then the teacher asked: "What was Penelope doing all this time?" Louis answered, solemnly: "Well, every day she and her maids spun and wove all day; and every night Penelope raveled out all the cloth they had woven during the day. Finally she said to those suitors, 'I won't marry any of you fellows till I get this sweater done.'"—Harper's Magazine.

Bessie's Bad Break.

LITTLE BESS was complaining that her stomach felt bad, and her mother said: "Perhaps it's because it's empty, dear. It might feel better if you had something in it." Shortly afterwards the minister called. In reply to a question as to his health, he said that he was well but that his head felt rather bad that day. "Perhaps it's 'cause it's empty," spoke up Bessie. "It might feel better if you had something in it."

Hard Work.

"YOU seem fatigued." "I am. I have just finished a half hour's conversation with a purist." "Is that so very tiring?" "I should say so! Time and again I had to choke back a slang word that was trembling on my lips."—Birmingham Age-Herald.
